INDIANAPOLIS MUSICIAN WITH TIES TO JAPAN ORGANIZES A HUGE RED CROSS CHARITY CONCERT FOR JAPAN DISASTER RELIEF

16 Local Indianapolis bands to play outdoor music event to raise money for Japan disaster victims

Jason Martin, a local Indianapolis musician, grew up in Hawaii with many close Japanese American friends. When the earthquake, tsunami, and nuclear reactor disaster unfolded, he was heart broken and felt immediately compelled to do something to help the victims of this disaster. He reached out to the local Indianapolis musician community and community at large, and with help from Jason Ridge, Nickole Wagermann and Brian Alvey, has successfully put together a HUGE benefit concert for disaster relief.

Saturday, June 11th from 11am to 11pm at the Johnson County Park Amphitheatre- 16 local Indy bands, many local vendors and the community at large will converge on this large, outdoor venue, with a capacity of 10,000 people, for an all ages event.

$5 donations will be accepted for admission into the venue- kids 12 and under are free as well as people with a military or veteran ID. People are invited to bring lawn chairs, blankets, coolers- although there will also be food and non-alcoholic drink vendors, merchandise vendors, games and activities for kids. There will also be a silent auction with items from local businesses and signed items from local bands to raise money for the disaster relief.

Camping and RV camping is also available in the park.
